Srote & Co Architects Welcomes New Interior Designer, Molly Archeski

(ST. LOUIS, MO – August 26, 2021) – Srote & Co Architects | Planners | Interiors is pleased to announce the recent hiring of Molly Archeski as interior designer and the newest member to their firm's growing interior design team. Archeski, an Allied Member of American Society of Interior Designers (ASID), comes to Srote & Co with seven years of professional experience and a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Interior Design from Maryville University. She makes the move to Srote & Co from another prominent St. Louis area interior design firm where she was responsible for residential interior design projects, client relationships, problem-solving, and creating a perfect balance between high-end luxury and practical living. Her background extends into the technical fields, including plumbing and tile industries, enabling her to design and deliver successful interior spaces from construction details and demolition through the final finishing touches.

As an Interior Designer, Archeski will work closely with architects, structural engineers, mechanical engineers, and builders, to determine how interior spaces will function, look, and be furnished. She will be responsible for client communications and relationships, all while collaborating with architect teams during interior planning along with individual interior design projects from initiation through completion.

"Molly's technical experience and practical approach to interior design is exactly what our clients demand.," stated Heather Helms, director of interior design for Srote & Co. "She is a skilled listener and has a fantastic awareness of where creativity and practicality should meet, creating well-balanced living spaces. We are excited to welcome Molly to our growing team."
